LABOR PLANS GENERAL STAFF AND DEFENSE FUND TO ACHIEVE ENDS

A. F. of L. Aims at Military Efficiency in "No Quarter to Our Enemies" Program--Conference Called For Dec. 13.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 14.—An elaborate "preparedness" program is being formulated today to carry on labor's warfare against antagonistic interests The program is to be backed by an immense defense fund and provides for a general staff to direct strikes and all important moves of the American Federation of Labor as a staff of generals directs the movements of an army.

It is planned to work out the program in sufficient detail to present to the conference called December 13 by the executive council of the federation, which will be attended by the presidents of the 112 national and international affiliated unions.

Labor cannot afford to make any more mistakes, leaders declare. The calling of the steel strike at a time unripe for it and the calling off of the coal strike, they declare two of the "greatest mistakes" in its history.

The international unions under the general staff plan would act as autonomous bodies as they do now but no single union would be permitted to follow a course of action regarded as injurious to the cause of organized labor as a whole.

When the executive council of the federation issued its declaration on the coal strike, it was sounding a warning, leaders declare, that labor was ready to "make good" on its talk that it was through with the cry of "no quarter to our enemies."

The government is not to plunge the nation into strikes, they are careful to point out. Leaders of unauthorized strikes will be summarily dealt with and the breaking of contracts with honorable employers will not be countenanced

Sympathetic strikes will be a part of the program but not sympathetic strikes that will injure innocent employers.

The United States steel trust is regarded as one of the most powerful enemies The general staff would regard it as "good tactics" to call out railway workers, seamen, iron workers and other union men who indirectly handle products that go in or out of the corporation's mills with the object of completely paralyzing the steel industry.

The "general staff" plan is now to co-operate with the railroad unions. A central board decides all the policies of organizations represented in the railway employes department of the American Federation of Labor. All the railway unions affiliated with the Federation have taken strike votes to enforce wage demands. The conference's consultation board has decreed that no union may strike separately but all ten must act in concert.

The steel strike is being conducted by a centralized authority.

If the general staff plan was now in existence, leaders point out, the miners officials would have acted under its advice and would have been compelled to follow the course of action the staff deemed best for the interests of organized labor. The steel strike would not have been called until the staff had marked out a campaign for its conduct and selected the "psychologic time" for it.

CHASE MAKES AN APOLOGY

And Explanation to Granville Whittaker in Connection With Recent Letter Regarding Election Result in the Eleventh Ward.

The following letter from the Rev. Dr. P. N. Chase to Granville Whittaker has been given to The Freeman for publication:

Kingston, N. Y., Nov. 13, 1919.

Mr. Granville Whittaker, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—I am informed that you take exceptions to two things which appeared in the article published in The Freeman lately.

The first was to the term "Superhuman exertion." It was used in the sense it is often used, and I think was so understood by most people. But I frankly admit it was not a wise expression. If I had said "strong effort," I think that you would have agreed with me in that. That was what I intended, but I used a stronger term than the case warranted.

The second objection is in reference to stealing my purse or stealing my reputation, or that of my party, and closing with a quotation from Shakespeare. (Not from the Bible, as you said it was. You see how easy it is to be mistaken.)

I did not mean in any way that you would steal my purse. I consider you as every one else does, an honest man, but the thought, as I think most people understood it, was that my reputation, and that of my party, were dearer to me than paltry dollars.

I did not, of course, use the word "steal" in the sense used in the statute but in the political sense: That in the obtaining by one out of the party of a nomination to which he has no party claim.

I did not do this personally, but as chairman of the city committee of the Prohibition party, and acting chairman of the county committee. I am held responsible in great measure for the action of the party, or at least that I am bound to do my best for it.

I want also to say that the article was written hurriedly. Usually I leave an article written, on my desk for a day or more and then rewrite it, always making some changes. Doubtless this article would have been toned down a bit had I done so, for it was not written to hurt your feelings, but to put my party right with the public as it was being misrepresented with much vigor by some, who possibly did not know the facts in the case.

Regretting that there should be any misunderstanding on your part, I am, very truly yours,

P. N. CHASE.

MASON BASCH WINS APPEAL

From His Conviction in Police Court Where a Jury Found Him Guilty Of Stealing Calf Skins From Roach Brothers.

County Judge Joseph M. Fowler has reversed the verdict of guilty found by a jury in police court against Mason Basch, who was charged with stealing six calf skins from Roach Brothers. The case was prosecuted by former Judge W. D Brinnier, Jr., while Frank W. Brooks appeared for Mr. Basch both at the trial and on the appeal.

Judge Fowler's decision, which is brief, follows:

"This is an appeal from a judgment of city court, whereby defendant was convicted of the crime of petit larceny.

The city judge ruled, and properly, that statements made by Sampson connecting Basch with the crime, were not admissible as against the latter. With this testimony not before the jury as to the defendant, we are met with the rule of law that before possession of stolen goods may raise a presumption of guilt, that possession must be made under such circumstances of fact as will justify a conclusion that the possession was with the knowledge of the person accused.

People vs. Wilson, 151 N. Y., 403.

An examination of the record discloses no such facts. Judgment must therefore be reversed."

The case was tried in city court before a jury, and a brief synopsis is as follows:

The defendant was charged with stealing from Roach Brothers, dealers in hides and leather on Ann street, six calf skins on June 4, 1919. It was claimed by the complainant that Basch, the defendant, had arranged with one Sampson, a colored man who was employed by complainant, to conceal the calves skins in a barrel of entrails which Basch had arranged to get on the following day. When Basch came to get the barrel, after it had been put on his truck he was arrested by Sergeant Phinney and upon the trial found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and be imprisoned in the county jail. The jail sentence was suspended.

COLVER WARNS OF LAW OF JUNGLE

Which Will Supplant Laws of the Land Unless Capital and Labor Settle Differences in Interest of The People.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 14.—Organized capital and organized labor must submit to the interest of the people lest the "law of the jungle" become the law of the land, declared William B. Colver, federal trade commissioner, speaking here today before the National Coffee Roasters Association.

"We have shown the world what an army of the soldiers of freedom, backed by the labor, and capital, the arts and the industries, and the genius and resources of a free land, united, can do," declared Colver. "Shall the army, the units, and the individuals of America, unite to turn against each other? It cannot be. The public interest is supreme.

"Organized capital, organized labor, organized farmers, organized tenants, and organized everything and everybody can and will function in our national life, so long as they function solely in the public interest.

"Organized selfishness! Never!

"If the public interest is subordinated to any or several special interests, the law of the jungle will be the law of the land, and liberty and justice will be fugitives hunted by organized bands of madmen."

Commissioner Colver attacked "combinations of ownerships of scores of unrelated products," and declared there should be "competition in the public interest between commodities."

He then warned the coffee men that the Chicago meat packers are turning their attention to the coffee business.

"We of the commission have been charged with destruction of export trade, with conspiracy and with what amounts to treason," said Commissioner Colver. "Months pass, we demand proofs. The reply is a fresh batch of charges—the old 1906 variety—Anarchy, Socialism, and a 1919 improvement, Bolshevism.

"Again we challenge proof; we demand a speedy and a public trial. But in the meantime we shall see whether these concerns shall be free to invade at will the uttermost bonds of our business world. We shall see whether your practices and your conduct or theirs shall survive—in the public interests."

EDNA TEN BROECK HELD FOR THEFT

Chambermaid at the Kirkland, Arrested in Newburgh—Miss McKenna Accuses Her of Stealing $100—Hearing Monday.

Miss Edna TenBroeck, colored, 21 years old, is in the county jail awaiting a hearing in police court Monday morning on a charge of grand larceny. She was arrested in Newburgh by the authorities, there at the request of the local police department. This morning Sergeant Hanley went to Newburgh and returned with the girl.

She was arrested on the complaint of Miss Agnes McKenna, also of the Kirkland, who claims that on November 11 the sum of $100 was stolen from her room. The complaint states that the colored girl obtained the pass key, with which admission is gained to every room in the hotel, at the office, apparently for the purpose of the performance of her usual duties as chambermaid, although Miss TenBroeck was dressed for the street.

She was arraigned in police court just before noon today and entered a plea of not guilty. In default of furnishing $1,000 bail bond she was remanded to the jail until the hearing is held.

Mr. Brooks and Miss Robinson were guests at the home of Mrs. Rockefeller, who is Mr. Brooks's cousin. The party was seated in a room when Mr. Brooks took the revolver from his pocket, explaining that it was causing discomfort. As he did so, it exploded and the bullet struck Miss Robinson who died a few hours later.

RED CAMPAIGN HERE GROWING

Ratification Of Treaty To Be Signal For Importation Of Literature Seeking Overthrow Of Government—50 New Anarchistic Publications.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov 14.—Revolutionary agitators are awaiting the ratification of the peace treaty to launch a great campaign for the overthrow of the government, according to information in the possession of the department of justice today.

Attorney General Palmer and Postmaster General Burleson were preparing to urge congress to pass laws suppressing revolutionary agitation after the ratification of the peace treaty. The espionage law and parts of the trading with the enemy act, under which the department of justice is now prosecuting "Reds," will become ineffective with the proclamation of peace.

Vast amounts of Bolshevist and other radical literature are now being held for importation into the United States upon the ratification of the peace treaty, the department of justice has learned.

The writings of foreign radicals are rapidly being adopted by domestic agitators, officials declared today, and ammunition of this sort is now ready for shipment to the United States when the trading with the enemy act becomes ineffective. Most of this literature preaches the "dictatorship of the proletariat," it is charged.

Radical foreign language papers are preparing to publish articles against the government of the United States and giving the "preparation of the new era," the department of justice has learned.

More than fifty new radical publications have appeared within the past few weeks, according to the officials, and these are devoted to anarchy and communism.

These publications are now operated under cover, but will come under the provision of the espionage act, it was stated today.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 14.—The giant four-engined Handley-Page biplane "Atlantic," carrying 3,600 pounds of express packages, hopped off for Chicago at 7 o'clock this morning on a non-stop flight. Admiral Mark Kerr was in charge of the machine and Major Herbert Brackley is piloting it Colonel Archie Miller, commander of all the United States aviation on Long Island, went along as a passenger. The "Atlantic" was to have started at 3:30, but was detained by a frozen radiator. Breakfast was carried on board and was eaten while mechanics worked over the engine.

There were eight persons on board the "Atlantic" in all, including a representative of the American Railway Express, the concern through which the freight had been consigned to Chicago.

The weather was very cold when the start was made, but the passengers carried a large quantity of hot coffee in Thermos bottles and a supply of food

When the engines were finally thawed out the machine slowly taxied down the field, then rose and after a single circle, headed due west. The pilot said he planned to steer a course to Cleveland and then skirt the southern shore of Lake Erie.

LONDON SOCIETY HAS NEW TRAGEDY

Army Captain at Wife's Call Enters Bedroom in Time to See Her Die From Effects of Self-Administered Prussic Acid.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Nov. 14.—"Suicide while of unsound mind," was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury today at the inquest over beatiful, 28-year-old Alma V. Steane, wife of a British army officer, who died under tragic circumstances in her luxurious West End apartments Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Steane took her life with Prussic acid.

It was not until the husband, Captain Anthony Steane, took the witness stand that the mystery which had veiled the tragedy was lifted.

"Oh, Tony I have done it this time," cried Mrs. Steane to her husband as he rushed into her sleeping apartment in response to her screams, Captain Anthony Steane testified. That was between 3 and 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, after they had returned from the second victory ball at Clairidges.

Captain Steane said that there had not been any quarrel between his wife and himself. He gave a dramatic description of the death scene and final parting.

"I did not understand what had happened," said he. "After my wife called to me I entered her bedroom. She was taking a drink of water. She extended her arms to me and exclaimed, 'Tony, kiss me for the last time.' It was not until then that I knew what she had done."

Mrs. Steane was often hysterical, her husband said, and during these spells she thought that she could hear her mother calling to her from the great beyond.

"At those times Alma said she wanted to die," continued the husband. "My wife always believed her parents had committed suicide."

Mrs. Steane was moody during the Victory Ball and did not dance at all. She and her husband drank one bottle of champagne between them, he testified.

Captain Steane told vaguely of some occurence in his wife's flat. He did not know the details. He went on to say that she had told him of the sad affairs in her life. It developed that her first attempt at suicide came after her engagement had been broken with another unnamed man.

Captain Steane said that this was not the first time his wife had tried to end her life, for she was subject to fits of despondency that were in deep contrast with her usual trend of spirits.

Among the witnesses called was Willoughby De Blake, who has known Mrs. Steane.

The testimony showed that the young woman was not an American, as many believed, but a German Pole by birth. She was taken to the United States when she was six years of age and spent her early life there.

Mrs. Steane's first husband was George Osborne Hayne, a Canadian, to whom she was married at the age of 17.

Their marriage was of short duration and afterwards Hayne served in the British air service

Mrs. Steane was fond of claiming that she was the daughter of Prince Rudolph of Austria and her youngson was the rightful heir to the Austrian throne, but this was never officially substantiated.

Mrs. Steane's second husband was Donald Andrews, whom she married under romantic circumstances at Mamaroneck, N. Y., in 1915.

Andrews was a Yale graduate and the son of Mathew Andrews of Cleveland, Ohio, and a business associate of the late Mark Hanna.

This marriage was also of short duration and Andrews is said now to be in Michigan.

The youth and beauty of the victim, her popularity in high society circles and the similarity of the circumstances of her death to those of Billy Carleton last year combined to make the case the most sensational the fashionable West End has ever known.

JOHNSON HURT BUT NO QUITTER

American "Dry" Mobbed In London Says It Was "Only a Little Hilarity"—His Opponents Regret Publicity Their Jibes Bring Him.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Nov. 14.—W. E. Johnson, American leader of the "dry" workers in Great Britain, who was mobbed by a crowd of medical students yesterday, while attempting to make a prohibition speech in Essex Hall, was suffering from a black eye and a strained back today, but he is still game and full of fight.

Mr Johnson tried to hide from reporters, but he smiled painfully when he was found as he attempted to straighten himself up to give his opinion of his reception on his first public appearance in London.

"It was only a little hilarity on the part of the students," said the "dry" leader. He paused, then continued:

"We are going to carry on. That will not stop the work of the cause, but I suppose I will be out of it for a while for I have been ordered to take absolute rest."

Assistants of Mr. Johnson, who can see no value in "pussyfoot" campaigning, expressed the view that the hostile demonstration of the students is the best kind of advertising for the "dry" cause in Great Britain. They indicated that a little more of the same kind would help a whole lot in lining up Great Britain alongside the United States in the "dry" column. But it is likely that they will have a great deal of difficulty in finding a worker, even among the most enthusiastic of the "drys" who will be willing to make the sacrifice, judging from the rough handling Mr. Johnson received.

The Daily Mail, which is opposing prohibition, has taken a stand against articles making fun of Mr. Johnson and his colleagues on the ground it would help them.

The towing season, however, still continues brisk and heavy tows of brick and cement go through to the New York market daily. There is also considerable grain and iron going down the river that came through the barge canal.

With no stock on hand in the river ice houses, which is rather an unusual situation, and due to the fact that not a pound of ice was harvested from the river fields last winter, it means that there will be a shortage of natural ice next summer if the prediction of the bee hunters prove true.

The bee hunters who roam the woods at this time of year searching for honey trees base their prediction upon the fact that the bees have not made any preparation for a hard winter, and but little honey has been stored away for their winter consumption.

Icemen, however, live in hopes that for once the prediction of an open winter will not be fulfilled.

Machinery to be used by the New York Contracting Company in excavating for the anchorage shafts of the proposed Sleightsburgh bridge has arrived, and work on the contract will shortly be started.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, Nov. 13.—The Ladies' Aid entertainment and play given on Friday evening of last week proved a great success. An appreciative audience was in attendance from far and near and a good time was had. The bright moon light night was ideal for the affair. The supper and ice cream proved very popular and much in demand. The sum of $64.18 was made clear of all expenses. Those who were on the committee wish to thank all those who helped in any way to make the evening a success. Thanks are due all who had parts in the play and all who helped with the stage and supper. The committee heartily appreciated all help given and wish to extend their thanks through The Freeman's columns. Especially are their thanks extended to Miss Katherine Hotaling, our teacher, who gave so much of her time to the practicing and rehearsing.

Jesse Osterhoudt, who has been ill for four weeks with influenza, is commencing to go out and is still under Dr. Fuller's care. His many friends in town will be glad to hear of his improvement.

Miss Annie Hornbeck of Ellenville spent the week end at her home in town and attended the entertainment Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Goetcheus and son, Morris, and Miss Van Wagenen of High Falls enjoyed a motor trip to town Sunday afternoon and called on Mrs. E. D. Markle and daughter.

attending Ellenville High School, has been confined to her home in this place the most of last week with a severe cold and tonsilitis.

KINGSTON, N. Y., NOV. 14, 1919.

A BRIEF "WET" PERIOD.

It was widely expected that there would be at least a short "wet" period before constitutional prohibition goes into effect on January 16, 1920. The war time prohibition act reads: "After June 30, 1919, until the conclusion of the present war and thereafter until the termination of demobilization, the date of which shall be determined and proclaimed by the President of the United States, it shall be unlawful," etc. Actually the war was "concluded" a year ago and demobilization was virtually complete some time since. All that remains undone is the ratification of the treaty, for the accomplishment of which task and the establishment of official peace it was reasonably supposed that the Senate would not require more than six months at the outside. But it now looks as if the Senate may require nine months and that official peace will not be made before constitutional prohibition begins. Undoubtedly there will be no official peace until then if three of the great powers must first formally accept the proposed reservations, according to the Senate vote of November 8.

This will please the "dry" forces and some independent observers as well, for one independent editor submits that the country would be better off if saved from "a ridiculously brief wet period." But there is at least one argument in favor of such a period, however short. It would enable the great body of adult unmarried people of both sexes to possess themselves of a small store of light wine for future emergencies and thus attain to some approximation of equality of privilege; for under the law while the married can freely manufacture light wines for their own use, the unmarried are not permitted to do so.

LOVE OF LIFE.

Jack London's fiction story, "Love of Life," is outdone by an alleged true story that comes down from the Peace River country of the Canadian Northwest. London's story vividly details the long combat for existence between a lost and starved man and a crippled and starved wolf in the northern wilds, each crawling feebly through the snows, each afraid to risk attack, yet each determined to devour the other and live. Hunger and love of life at last brought the dreaded crisis. The exhausted man, triumphing through the narrowest of chances, sank his teeth into the throat of the beast, drank blood and lived. This new story of what love of life accomplished, claiming to be true, has to do with a whole winter's struggle of an Indian child of four years. When its parents trekked with their numerous progeny in the autumn it was accidently left behind. Thinking it was already prey of the wolves, they did not even go back to look.

We are invited to believe that such was this four-year-old child's "will to live, his initiative, his endurance, that he went through the sub-Arctic winter and was fat and hearty when his parents came back next summer." Clad only in a ragged cotton shirt and drawers, without shelter or food, alone in the snow-covered wilds, exposed to the attack of wild beasts, the little Indian nevertheless managed to triumph in its fight for life. According to the story, "the child picked up scraps of food and birch twigs, fought with Indian dogs for fragments of fish and slept throughout the winter in shelters of its own contriving." The account strains credulity to the breaking point. Few can believe such a story as it is told, even in the case of an Indian child. But there is an old saying that Providence takes care of children, fools and drunken men, and it may be that the little Indian received help of which he was too young to tell.

MILITARY TRAINING.

In advocating universal military training, Cardinal Gibbons holds that one of its advantages would be to instill into the young men "a spirit of obedience to lawful authority." "It will teach them," he says, "that there is a dignity associated with obedience which has been too often overlooked, and that, in obeying their lawful superiors, they are rendering obedience to God, from whom all authority comes." Though such results are highly desirable, it is pertinent to remark that during the war the habit of obeying military superiors would appear to have weakened rather than strengthened the habit of submitting to authority in civil affairs. Certainly, as a breeder of revolutions, the world war is without a parallel.

Nevertheless the Cardinal's view is well supported by experience. The boy who is trained to obey and does obey will make a better citizen than the boy who is left to be a law unto himself. If ordinary training at home and in school can produce good results, the addition for a period of military training, which more certainly requires obedience, ought to be even more fruitful. Many parents have long recognized this, and accordingly such parents, having to deal with boys hard to keep under control, have been glad to send them to military schools. Whatever the objections that may be raised against universal military training as a national policy, there can be no doubt that a period of military training would be wholesome in its effect on the average boy.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

When you say, "What's the price"

WHEN you come in here this fall and pick out a suit and say to the salesman "How much?"

He'll say "$40" perhaps, or maybe "$50" or "$60"--depends on the suit you choose.

You may say "Why, I can beat that price $5 or $10."

Probably you can; but that isn't the point; you can't get as much clothes value for your money anywhere else; that $5 or $10 is in the suit; it's the $5 or $10 that makes good quality possible; and that makes the suit outwear the cheaper one two to one.

Hart Schaffner & Marx make the clothes; and they guarantee satisfaction

PRINCETON MEETS YALE TOMORROW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14.—Yale and Princeton are both scheduled to romp over the chalk lines in the bowl today for their final signal and punting practice in preparation for their meeting tomorrow. Victory for the Tigers tomorrow will crown their battered season with glory, for they achieved a high round of football fame by tieing Harvard last Saturday and their two preliminary defeats will not count as blots in their own estimation of the season.

For Yale victory will bring the team to the Harvard stadium next Saturday, hopeful of attaining its ideal, which is to defeat both Harvard and Princeton. Yale hopes of victory over both Princeton and Harvard are high and the Eli backers today insisted their team would prevent the Tigers from scoring. Yale men wagered large sums on victory at 2 to 1 and bet even that Princeton would not score.

The game will create a new record in Yale-Princeton attendance. Fully 61,000 persons will see the match. When Yale played in Princeton in 1916, the Palmer stadium, which seats some 37,000 people, was not filled, and when the Tigers last appeared here in 1915, their only appearance in the local bowl, there were some 50,000 vacant seats.

Hotels, boarding houses, private houses, cafes and restaurants have been crowded to full capacity for two days.

ST. PETER'S GLEE CLUB.

Young Men Will Meet to Organize Basketball Team.

This evening a meeting will be held in the basement of St. Peter's school for the purpose of organizing a basketball team from the Young Men's Glee Club of St. Peter's parish. The meeting will open at 7:30 o'clock and it is requested that all members of the club and all young men of the parish attend the meeting.

Since the first announcement that an attempt would be made to organize the basketball team many of the members of the Glee Club have promised to give the movement their earnest support and expect to be at the meeting this evening.

The Idylls of the King.

This will be the subject of the sermon in the St. James church Sunday night. No modern poet has done a finer piece of work than Tennyson in these "Idylls," in which we see the play of his imperial imagination and hear the sweet music of his singing lines. They contain stories of splendid romance and of stirring deeds of bravery, for heroism and sin, like the play of sunshine and shadow, are truly and finely pictured in the knights and ladies of King Arthur's court. These matchless "Idylls," which are so true to life, reveal the poet's real self, and they express his religious beliefs as no other poem does, except perhaps "In Memoriam." Dr. Baragwanath will continue his series of sermons on "The Gospel in Literature. The St. James quartet, which rendered such effective service in such a telling way in the sermon on "Snow-Bound," will assist in a most vital as well as pleasing way on Sunday night. A general invitation is extended to this popular Sunday night service.

Hapeman's Business His Own.

William H. Hapeman, of 614 Broadway, states that for some time there has been a persistent rumor that the meat and produce market, which he is conducting, is owned by P. A. Lasher, and that he is managing it for the latter. The rumor he says is false as he personally owns the stock, fixtures and lease of the store, all of which was sold by the U. S. government at bankruptcy sale to Mrs. Margaret Ryan, by Referee D. G. Atkins, and from whom he purchased the property some months ago and has since and is still conducting the store for himself, and that no one else has any financial or business interest in the market.

Benefit Movie Today.

The benefit movie for the Parent-Teachers' Associations of the city will be given at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium this evening, it having been seen by many at the afternoon performances. There was an excellent attendance yesterday at the Opera House, both in the afternoon and evening, but it must be admitted that to those who really care for Dickens and his own story, "Dombey and Son," the photoplay, which is a modernization of the same is a bit disappointing. To those who enjoy a good movie picture it was decidedly appealing. The women of the Parent-Teachers' Associations hope for another large audience this evening.

Business Men's Social.

The tired business man who found considerable recreation and pleasure in the Business Men's Socials at the Y. M. C. A. last winter, will be pleased to learn that a social similar to those of last year will be held at the "Y" this evening. Billiards, pool, bowling, checkers, chess and other games will be on the program. No addresses have been arranged but short informal discussions on current topics will be held. Refreshments will be served. The men will start to gather at the "Y" shortly after 7 o'clock when the fun will begin.

Centrals Open at Saugerties.

On Monday night the Central basketball team of this city will open its season at Saugerties when they will meet the Saugerties team. As both teams are made up of fast players a speedy and exciting contest is expected. The Centrals will go by auto bus to Saugerties, leaving the central post office at 7:30 o'clock, and all rooters who desire to go and encourage the Kingston players will be taken along, by chipping in a half a dollar for the round trip.

USES COMMON YELLOW MUSTARD FOR CHEST COLDS AND SORE THROAT

Old Fashioned Simple Home Remedy Much Used by Doctors and Nurses for Inflammation, Congestion, Aches, Pains and Swellings.

Mustard, real yellow mustard, the kind you use at home, is being used more than ever to banish distress and misery and free mankind from agony and suffering.

Not very long ago people used to make yellow mustard into a paste, spread it on a cloth and apply it to that part of the body where pain or inflammation was present.

It surely did do the work it was expected to do, but it was messy and bothersome and often blistered the skin.

People still use yellow mustard when they get a cold in the chest or have pleurisy, lumbago or rheumatic pains and swellings.

But nowadays they buy this yellow mustard in condensed form all ready for use for something like 20 cents a box and find it much better, cheaper and cleaner than mustard plasters.

This yellow mustard preparation, which is known to millions as Begy's Musterine is sold at drug stores all over America and one box will do the work of 50 mustard plasters and it cannot blister the tenderest skin.

Begy's Musterine is the original mustard preparation used to take the place of blistering mustard plasters and is known among druggists as the quickest pain killer on earth.

It will pay you to keep a box of Begy's Musterine in the house, for it is good for so many ailments that you will need it often.

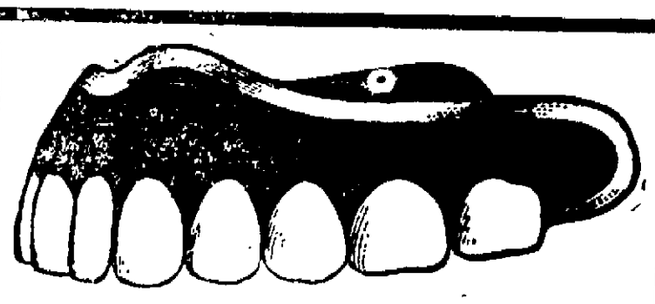
Just rub it on, that's all you have to do and headache, backache, earache and toothache will disappear almost instantly.

Don't fail to use it for neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, gout and rheumatic pains and swellings.

You will quickly find that there is nothing so good for sprains and strains, sore muscles stiff neck and cramps in leg.

Heat eases pain and Begy's Musterine made of real yellow mustard with other helpful ingredients added contains more concentrated, non-blistering heat than can be found in any box the same size.

Just try a 30-cent box—you'll praise it to the skies as millions are doing every day. Always in the yellow box.



PAINLESS EXTRACTING of TEETH

Extracting teeth is painless in any modern dental office. The Cady Dental Offices use Nitrous-Oxide Gas for general anaesthesia. Where the patient desires to remain conscious but have the operation painless, Metz Novocain-Suprarenin Tablets are used in a saline solution. This local anaesthetic is painless and there is no soreness of the gums after the teeth are extracted. The Cady Dental Offices have been established 25 years.

DR. RICHMOND SPEAKS IN N. Y.

Labor Misled, But Will Prove Loyalty, He Tells Chamber of Commerce—His Concise Presentation of What Radicalism Means.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

"If we get what we want all will be well
If not the country may go to hell!"

Dealing with things as they are he discussed the problem from a national standpoint and called attention to the point that labor was misled but would eventually prove its loyalty to the government and the constitution and cast from its midst its radical leaders who "proved themselves inefficient in managing their own affairs, not able to control their passions or subordinate their low desires to the rule of high principles; that these men shall be permitted to manage our public affairs and to control the life and fortunes of all the rest. "It is insane," said Dr. Richmond. "Rather than live in such a country any self-respecting man would prefer to take his chance in the next world however slim they might be, for no hell he might have to live in could possibly be worse."

His address in full follows:

"We are confronted at this moment by the monstrous proposition that a few hundred thousand radicals, syndicalists, I. W. W., whatever they may call themselves—represented by leaders who impudently claim to speak for the workers of the country, but who do not, shall dominate this nation of one hundred millions, paralyze our industries, bring suffering, ruin, and even death upon the innocent, threaten the government, terrorize peaceful communities, in short, to bring about a kind of revolution which would destroy all this great structure of our national life which has cost us so many years of painful struggle and so great a sacrifice of blood and treasure. The program has been condensed into two lines:

If we get what we want all will be well
If not the country may go to hell!

Every man who loves his country must be prepared to face this issue fairly and without a compromise. Questions of hours and wages, of real grievances, adjustments between employers and employed, all kinds of differences that are incident to industrial life, may be and must be met in a spirit of conciliation and co-operation. But a challenge to established law, incident to revolution, threats to overthrow the authority of the government and to substitute for it the dictation of so-called leaders of any section or class of people, is a threat at the very life of the democracy for which this nation stands. And if we permit such a movement even to seem to succeed it will make our boasted freedom a laughing stock to the whole world. If the declaration that there are certain inalienable rights belonging to men, among them life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, means anything it means that every man shall be protected in his right to work and in his rights to enjoy the fruits of his labor. If the property which a man honestly earns by his industry and self-denial and enterprise is to be taken from him, if he is to be dragged out of the position he has won by his superior character and brains and energy, if, in short, the qualities which have raised men in the world are to be penalized, what possible motive remains for initiative or worthy ambition. Hands and brain demand that manual labor shall have equal reward as brain.

The proposition of radicalism in this country is simply this: That the idle, the incompetent, the violent, the men who proved themselves inefficient in managing their own affairs, the men who are not able to control their own passions or subordinate their low desires to the rule of high principles; that these men shall be permitted to manage our public affairs and to control the life and fortunes of all the rest. That you may call an insane proposition. It it insane, but, stripped of all its tawdry disguises, this is what is in the mind of some of the so-called leaders whose influence over the masses of ignorance is as great as it is evil. Rather than live in such a country any self-respecting man would prefer to take his chance in the next world however slim they might be, for no hell he might have to live in could possibly be worse.

It must be remembered that the contest is a contest for control. That is the program of the more radical and not the least powerful of the so-called labor organizations. We have been warned by the more conservative that these organizations are largely in the hands of radical leaders and their program is definite and drastic. They are for nationalization of all essential industries. They are for direct action which means nothing more or less than revoution and industrial war with all its attendant horrors. It is not representation they want but control, and if they should succeed in putting through their program it would mean a tyranny and a reign of terror which would make the French revolution look like a pink tea. The thing has happened in Russia and those who know the conditions there know that the comparison I have made with the French revolution is well within bounds.

We must remember also that control of industry carries with it, in the end, the control of everything else that effects our life. It carries with it not only potential but in the end actual control of all our institutions—of our government, of our courts, of our army and navy, and of our schools and colleges, of our churches, of our scientific institutions, of our art galleries. It would mean that the control of all these organizations which foster and maintain the higher life of a nation. The interests which stand for the life of the soul—in distinction from the life of the body—would be in the hands not of the fit but of the unfit, for where the power is there the control is.

No one who has the least knowledge of them can fail to respect the great mass of men whom we call the laboring class. Taken as a whole they are on the side of order. They are honest workmen and mean to do the right thing. Many of them are ambitious that their sons and daughters shall have the advantages which they have not had, that they shall be instructed in those things that make for what we call the higher life. It is one of the things we are most proud of and most grateful for that in this country the way of opportunity is open. But to say that people of this class are qualified for control is simply insane. God knows we are often foolish enough in the choosing of our leaders and representatives but compared to the leaders who claim to represent the labor men, our political leaders are Solons for wisdom and George Washingtons for unselfish patriotism.

Who are the leaders who assume to represent labor in the great industrial contest which is going on today? One of them is a Syndicalist who believes and preaches revolution and who would practice it if he dared. Another of them has not only preached assassination but has spent a term in prison for practicing it. A third is a man whose disloyalty to America is so well known that his society is spurned by all loyal men. What reason have we to suppose that these men—or men like these—would not be chosen to conduct the affairs of this nation if the radical organizations should ever gain control?

The truth cannot be too often pushed home that these masses of people never have and never can devise and direct policies which are for their own benefit. This is always the work of leaders. Further than this, it is also true that these leaders have never been able to accomplish any great or lasting benefit unless they have reached the point of view which takes in not only the interests of the class they represent, but also the interests of the whole people. I do not believe for a moment that radicalism will get the upper hand in this country. There is more noise than substance in it. The only fear I have is that we may temporize and compromise with it as we did with slavery in the years before the Civil War. Because men did not have the nerve to face that monster before it became so strong, it cost this nation a price which even now we recall with horror. It is only the foolish and the blind who refuse to learn the lessons of history. Human nature does not change very much and the lust of power is as strong in the human breast as it ever was. Liberty, which after all, is about the only thing worth having, is never, never secure. Eternal vigilence is and must always be its price. Its enemies are the more deadly because it is so precious but, whenever they appear, in whatever form and from whatever direction, we must meet them face to face and neither give nor take quarter.

I am sure this spirit of unrest will quiet down and that when we come to understand each other better we will stand together to resist the sinister forces that would divide us. At bottom all men—except the very wicked—desire justice. The fever that now possesses the minds of so many will subside, and in the light of cool reason we shall learn to readjust our affairs in a spirit of mutual concession and with a due regard for each others rights.

In the meantime it is the duty of every patriot to stand firm upon the constitution, the first charter of our liberties. We must be loyal to the government, we must render perfect obedience to the law and we must be prepared to make any sacrifice to preserve the gains which our fathers and our sons have won for us. Any man, whatever his party, who dares to imperil the interests of his country or to put in jeopardy its liberties for the sake of personal or political advantage, should be scourged from the society of patriotic men as a menace to the community and an enemy of his country."

The address reported above is substantially the same as the talk Dr. Richmond gave before the Kingston Rotary Club on Wednesday. In the matter of speeches, Kingston Rotarians seem, like Kingston theatres, to "get it before New York does."

TURKEY DINNER

And Hollyhock Garden at Rondout Presbyterian Church.

The annual turkey dinner and fair of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will be held in the chapel on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 18 and 19. The dinner will be served Tuesday from 12 o'clock to 2 o'clock. This dinner has been served for so many years it has become an historical event. In spite of the soaring cost of turkey, the ladies felt they couldn't serve a lesser bird, so the turkey with its fixings will again be the chief dish accompanied by all the usual vegetables, cranberries and a huge variety of pie. Tuesday night a salad supper will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock, followed by an entertainment. The fair will be a hollyhock garden glowing in all the pinks and reds of sunset and the yellows of sunshine and gold. The attendants will be dames of the olden time, whose quaint gowns will blend with grandmothers old fashioned flowers and the articles for sale will be of every description.

HALLOWE'EN HELPED DOCTOR.

A Joke That Solved a Four Year Old Puzzle Making Every One Happy.

One of Kingston's physicians bought a residence about four years ago, and shortly afterward had trouble with the water connection. He sent for a plumber, but the plumber could not locate the curb tap. At intervals during the past four years the physician has made an unsuccessful search for the curb tap, but could not locate it. Several days ago a gang of boys out for sport tumbled over into the road the large stone horse block in front of the residence. The act proved a blessing in disguise for the physician for the missing curb tap was found located under the big stone. Now everybody is happy.

Double-Breasted

With All-Round Belt

That's the thing for stylish young men this season.

The House of Kuppenheimer developed some very new and distinctive double and single-breasted belted ideas for us---without a doubt some of the finest looking suits we've ever seen.

You'll like the double-breasters, especially. They're a great deal different than the double-breasted suits of past seasons—the coats have a higher waist effect, more flare to the skirt, new ideas in cuffs, lapels, plaits and pockets; buttons are set differently, too.

We haven't forgotten the man who prefers a single-breasted suit, either. Many smart ones here—all-around belt, half belt, or no belt; one, two or three button; ultra stylish, in-between or conservative.

The same old Kuppenheimer quality—dependable all-wool fabrics, and tailoring that expresses refinement in every detail.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Let me live in my house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong.
Wise, foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

FRENCH DISHES FAVORITES IN AMERICA.

We will have to admit that the French have distanced us in matters of economy. They look with dismay upon the huge roasts and juicy steaks which are found on American tables. Though France knows much, she does not know it all, by any means.

Mark Twain, in his usual entertaining vein, says: "There is here and there an American who will say he can remember rising from an European table d'hote perfectly satisfied; but we must not overlook the fact that there is here and there an American who will lie."

Onion Soup With Eggs and Cream.—Cut up six white onions very thin and fry in a tablespoonful of butter until light brown. Then add a quart of water and a pint of milk, season with one teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar and a pinch of mace. Cook slowly for an hour and strain; beat four eggs until light, add a cupful of cream and a tablespoonful of cornstarch mixed with a little cold water; cook until the starch is well done, before adding the eggs, as the soup must not then be boiled or the eggs will curdle.

Burgundian Pate.—For this dish the breasts of two chickens must be pounded into a paste; add to this one cupful of fresh bread crumbs and half a cupful of melted butter, half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne and five beaten yolks of eggs. Cook six livers and six gizzards one hour in good stock. Then add a cupful of chopped ham and the same amount of chopped mushrooms cooked in butter. Cook a few minutes and then cool. Line a pate mold with puff paste, fill with the mixture, cover with a paste and bake slowly in a moderate oven. Cover with paper if the crust browns too quickly and add stock through the opening. Serve cold or hot.

NOT A K. O., BUT FAST FIGHTING

Vincent Coffey Wins Main Bout Shading Hatfield of New York—Joe Reilly Outfought Collins of Newburgh—Two Fighting Soldiers.

Vincent Coffey, the local boxer, is rapidly improving, and Thursday evening he put up a fast fight with Ray Hatfield of New York city, in the main bout at the third smoker of the Kingston Athletic Club in Griffiths's Hall, and while unable to land a knock out he easily had the best of the argument.

Coffey tipped the scales at 140 pounds ringside, while Hatfield weighed 142 pounds. Vallon of Newark, who was to have met Coffey that evening was unable to come as he had injured his wrist in administering a k. o. to an opponent in a fight the night before.

The first four rounds between Coffey and Hatfield were about even, but from then on to the close of the bout Coffey began to shade his opponent, and won easily by landing not only more blows, but being more aggressive. Hatfield was no slouch, however, and it was evident that he was an experienced fighter. It was his first appearance in Kingston.

The seventh and eighth rounds were all Coffey's, and he had Hatfield covering up, and protecting his chin and face. Coffey tried hard enough, but was unable to land a sleep punch. This bout was one of the best of the evening.

A comer in the fighting game, if his work that night means anything, is Joe Reilly of this city who outboxed and outfought Willie Collins of Newburgh in a six round set-to. While Reilly has appeared before in public as an amateur this was his first public appearance as a professional, and after he has had more ring experience he should prove a fast man.

Joe tipped the scales ringside at 144 pounds, while Collins weighed 141 pounds. Both men were about the same height, but in the opening round it was seen that the Kingston boy was far cleverer with the mitts than the Newburgh lad, and he held his advantage through all six rounds.

Collins is an experienced ring general, but Joe proved too fast for him. In the opening round the Kingston boy landed flush in the Newburgh boy's bugle, causing the claret to flow. From that time on Joe played for Willie's beak, and from the number of times he caressed it with his left jab it must have felt like the worst kind of a boil to Willie.

While outfought, Collins was far from weak and if he could have landed his haymaker he would have placed Joe in dreamland, but Joe proved clever in dodging or guarding it. Reilly, however, overlooked some fine opportunities of landing the dream punch. Given more ring experience against good men Reilly should prove a comer.

The other six round bout staged was between Sapper John Cohan, who was announced as the featherweight champion of the Canadian army, and Turk Kelly of Wappingers Falls. Cohan weighed 134 pounds ringside and Kelly 128 pounds.

Both were clean fighters and put up a good argument in the first three rounds. The last three were all Cohan's as Kelly kept covering up and clinching. As a matter of fact Cohan was too heavy for Turk, but the latter proved that he was also clever with the gloves. Considerable amusement was added to the bout by Turk's antics in sticking out his tongue at his opponent and then dodging a face blow and going into a clinch.

The four round preliminary was staged by Johnny Troy and Jim Howe, both members of the club. It was a fast 4-round exhibition, with Troy having slightly the better of the argument.

The third man in the ring was Ed Cashin, who is the official referee of the club, and his work met with the approval of the fans last night.

The attendance was larger than at the two previous smokers, and everyone present was satisfied with the fights that were staged. It was one of the best boxing shows ever seen along the Hudson river.

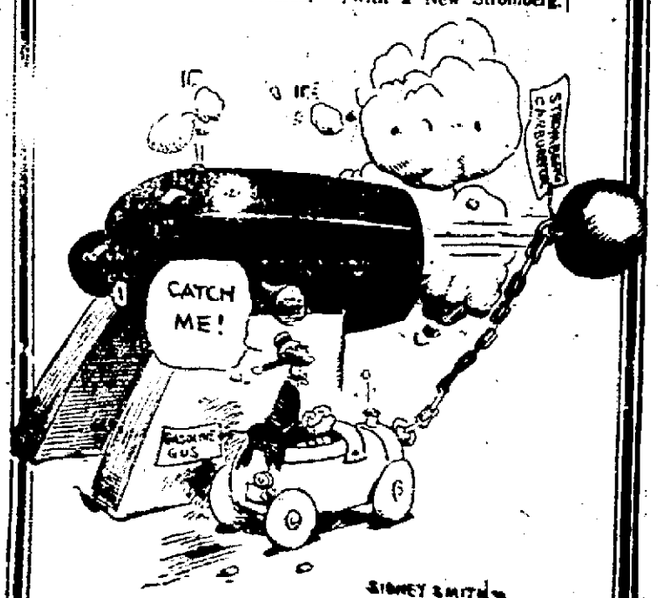
There is "like-a-shot-out-of-a-gun" action about a car equipped with a New Stromberg Carburetor. The quality of gas mixture produced by the New Stromberg gives a clean, quick get-away anywhere in any weather; then a speedy pick-up—through a range of speed that takes you as fast as you care to travel.

It puts racing spirit into any machine — increases its power—gives it better acceleration. And it reduces mileage costs radically.

The reputation of the New Stromberg is evidence of its superiority—and proof of its need on any car—of any make, of any model. It holds official world's records on virtually all makes of machines—for power, for speed and for fuel savings.

If Stromberg equipment meant only a slight betterment in engine operation—only a little more speed—only a little more power—only small savings, there might be no actual need or reason for your changing. The increase in power and speed — the decrease in operative costs are so great that the New Stromberg is a downright necessity.

Bring your machine around and let us equip it with a New Stromberg.



Run it under Stromberg equipment for ten days. Then if you want to keep the carburetor—pay us. If you don't, there's no cost whatever. You need not feel that you are obligating yourself in any way. You are not. It's our proposition. If the New Stromberg doesn't satisfy you, we don't expect and don't want to make the sale.—

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Nov. 13.—Rev. William H. Austin will preach in the Methodist Church on Friday evening of this week. As he was pastor of this church for more than four years, we hope that every one will make a special effort to attend. The service will begin at 7:30 and Mr. Wilcox will be present to lead the singing. Rev. D. N. F. Blakeney of Milton, will preach this Thursday evening and those who have listened to him the past two evenings will surely want to hear him again. Mr. Wilcox will also be on hand tonight. Come and help with the singing.

The weather has proved very unfavorable for the meetings since Monday but the attendance has been fairly good. Those who remain at home are certainly missing something worth while. Rev. Foster A. Coons of Highland gave an intensly interesting sermon on Monday evening and Rev. D. N. F. Blakeney of Milton held the attention of all present on Tuesday and Wednesday evening with his earnest appeals. He also sang a solo each evening. These were greatly appreciated as every word the singer uttered could be understood. The meetings will be continued next week and other pastors will assist, also the District Superintendent, Rev. Herbert E. Wright, will be present and preach one evening during the week.

On Monday evening Rev. William H. Austin and family of Kenoza Lake arrived, by auto, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Ganoung. On Tuesday morning they continued their journey to Poughkeepsie and from there went by train to Connecticut to visit Mr. Austin's parents and grandparents. Gould Ganoung accompanied them to Poughkeepsie and drove the car back to Esopus.

The quota of Division No. 2 (120 members), is $225 this year, and $78.16 has been collected by the workers, but as the time of the drive has been extended a week that gives those who wish to give more and those who have not given, an opportunity to do so in the few days extension One dollar will give you a membership for one year; two dollars will not only give you a membership but will give you a year's subscription to the Red Cross Magazine, which is very interesting and will compare favorably with any literary magazine This year contributions of any amount are also accepted. Let us not be slackers. The Red Cross nurse is still at her post and it takes money to carry on this worthy cause to suffering humanity. He who would obtain mercy must show himself merciful. Ulster county has always met its quota and gone over the top. Let this third roll call of the Red Cross be no exception. Please bring your subscriptions to the Methodist parsonage as the Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout is the captain of Division No. 2 He also desires to thank the workers for their co-operation in the present drive

ARTICLE TEN RESERVATION WON

League Powerless to Send Our Troops to Foreign Wars—Hitchcock Says It Means He Must Vote Against Ratification.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The reservation to Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant was adopted yesterday by the senate with a majority of 13 votes.

The roll call showed 46 senators voting for the reservation and 33 against it, all the negative votes being cast by Democrats. Four Democrats—Senators Reed of Missouri; Gore of Oklahoma; Smith of Georgia; and Walsh of Massachusetts—voted for the reservation.

Through the adoption of this reservation, the League of Nations council is shorn of all the authority which the League framers sought to give it in the matter of American participation in foreign wars.

Senator Hitchcock, administration leader, has announced that the adoption of the reservation will compel him to vote against ratification of the treaty.

It was this reservation President Wilson denounced in his Salt Lake speech as certain to "cut the heart out of the League Covenant." The reservation, which was adopted in the exact language which the president criticised, is as follows:

"The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere in controversies between nations, whether members of the league or not, under the provisions of Article X, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the congress, which, under the constitution, has the sole power to declare war or to authorize the employment of military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide."

TOLSTOY'S WIDOW DEAD.

On Estate Which Is Now a Bolshevist School.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Helsingfors, Nov. 14.—The widow of Count Tolstoy, famous Russian author, is dead, according to a dispatch received here today quoting the newspaper Kronsenia Gazette. The dispatch stated the countess died upon her late husband's estate, Krasnaya Polyana.

A cablegram to the International News Service on November 10, said that Lenine, the Bolshevist premier of Russia, had transformed Krasnaya Polyana into a junior republic and that hundreds of young children were being educated there in the principles of Bolshevism.

Explosions In Cork.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Nov. 14.—Numerous dynamite explosions occurred at Cork during the night, and one of them totally wrecked the Memorial Cross to the soldiers killed in the Boer war, said a dispatch from that city to the Evening News today. The Cork police were thrown into confusion by the widely scattered locations of the blast.

Stanley enjoyed a few days' sport in hunting for deer and on Friday he had the luck to shoot a fine buck.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dymond were Friday evening callers at Virgil Barringer's.

DeWitt Shultis of Maybrook spent a few days of the deer season in this place the past week.

Clarence Kelder of Samsonville spent Sunday with Alfred Coons.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, Nov. 13.—Louis Barringer has returned from Big Indian, where he spent several days deer hunting and visiting relatives.

Mitchell Every has already trapped three fine skunks.

Victor Beesmer is much improved and able to go out again.

Freeman Every has been confined with a cold but is better at this writing.

On Thursday Mrs. Frank Beesmer and daughter, Winifred, came to spend the week end with their aunt, Mrs. J. H. Bevier.

Mrs. W. G. Moore was surprised on Friday night when an auto party from Kingston came in to take supper with her. Among the number was her daughter, Mildred. Gebehere accompanied them home on her way to New York, where she is employed.

Frank Beesmer of Rhinebeck and Ethan Shuster of Kingston took dinner on Sunday at J. H. Bevier's.

DANCING SATURDAY NIGHT AT PYTHIAN HALL—Advertisement.

NEWBURGH PLAYS K. H. S. SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon the Kingston High School football team will line up against the Newburgh High School team on the Athletic Field on Cornell street. Kingston has defeated Newburgh once this year and on their own gridiron, therefore there is no reason why they can't do it again on Saturday.

A great deal depends upon this game, and if Newburgh should carry off the honors it would be more than a victory for them.

Kingston has only two more games to play and the boys are determined to win both of these.

The game will start about 2:30 Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Field and end up in Newburgh with Kingston on the winning end.

Tickets may be had at the field and the boys rightly hope that those who show enough interest in the game to stand and watch it will show equal appreciation for the Athletic Association and get tags to put on their coats.

AT THE THEATRES.

Poughkeepsie Takes To "Three's A Crowd."

William S. Hart is probably the foremost delineator of strong western characters. "Wagon Tracks," his latest vehicle of expression, will be shown at Keeney's tonight. It was very favorably commented on at the same theatre yesterday.

"Three's A Crowd" is warranted by those who have seen it in Poughkeepsie to be as full of laughs as O'Neil street is of chuck holes. Kingstonians may judge for themselves at the Opera House Saturday evening, where it will be shown once only. Seats now on sale.

You just can't make your feet behave when you see Mabel Normand jazz her way Upstairs from a hotel scullery to the "Parais de Danse," all in sixty syncopated minutes. And when you find out, as Mabel does, that her "bellhop" dancing partner is the possessor of a cool million, you'll shake with laughter as you see her shimmy her way to the altar. This Normandized Ragtime Romance is guaranteed to cure the blues and prevent an attack for months to come. At Keeney's tomorrow.

All of the regular patrons of the Auditorium will find a picture of unusual interest in "Dombey & Son." to be presented tonight for the benefit of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

Old School Baptists.

There will be Old School Baptist meeting Saturday evening, November 15, at the home of John H. Hasbrouck, 150 Prospect street, commencing at 8 o'clock. All are welcome.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, Nov. 14.—The regular preaching services will be held Sunday, November 16, at 2 p. m. It is hoped many will attend this service as it is introductory to the "Win My Chum" campaign week to be observed in the church during the week of November 16-21. See Monday's issue of The Freeman for further details.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Nov. 14.—The Singing Society will meet again for rehearsal Saturday evening, November 15, at 7:45 o'clock in the Reformed church. A good attendance is expected.

LAKE HILL.

Lake Hill, Nov. 14.—Please remember the Sunday school at 2:30 o'clock Sunday, November 16.

SKILLYPOT TAKES ANNUAL VACATION

Monday the ferryboat Riverside, better known as the Skillypot, will begin her annual vacation, which may last for several days, the exact term depending on the prompt state of the health of the venerable craft as revealed by the ship carpenters who make the examination. In other words, the Skillpot will begin on Monday to receive its annual overhauling and repairs to fit it for the winter.

During the time the ferry is off its route passengers may cross the creek in a row boat, swim across or walk around by the Eddyville bridge and dream of the days when Col. Greene either builds the new bridge or busts a lung.

Farewell Sermon Tonight.

There will be revival services at St. Mark's A. M. E. Church Foxhall avenue at 8 o'clock this evening. Song and praise service 8:30. Mrs. Garnett White who has been conducting meetings this week will preach her farewell sermon. Ezekiel 37-3, using as a subject, "Hear and Your Soul Shall Live." Mrs. H. E. McCarter Williams, the evangelist, takes charge of these services commencing Sunday afternoon, November 16, at 3:30 o'clock.

Little Folks' Minstrel.

A Little Folks' Minstrel Show will be given in the schoo hall of the Spring Street German Lutheran Church next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Miss Sophie Schmidtkonk is directing the show and under her supervision the children have attained such proficiency that the program, which is full of laughs, is sure to be rendered perfectly. The doors of the hall open at 7 and the curtain rises at 7:30 o'clock.

East Kingston Film.

The photoplay, "The Victim," will be shown in the East Kingston Hall Saturday evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of St. Colman's Church of that place. This film is sent out by the Catholic Art Association and reveals the powers and secrecy of the confessional. It is sent to the East Kingston church highly recommended by many who have seen it in other cities.

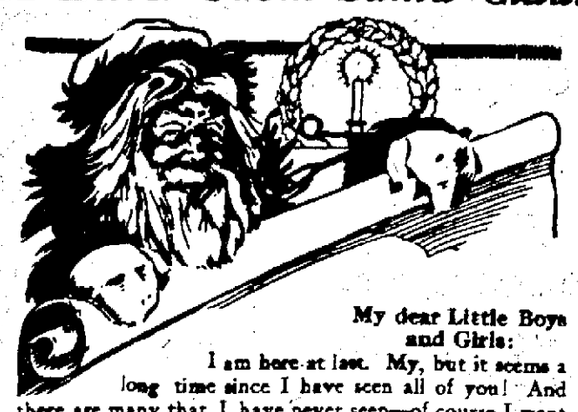
A Letter From Santa Claus



My dear Little Boys and Girls:

I am here at last. My, but it seems a long time since I have seen all of you! And there are many that I have never seen—of course I want to see them, too. I have so many things for you to see this time that I hardly know where to begin. Things that are so interesting that I am afraid your eyes will almost pop right out of your heads. Therefore, when you come, if you feel your eyes getting big and round, just you hang on to them, because I want you to keep them so you can see everything.

Some say I came by aeroplane, but that is not so. My reindeers would feel terrible if I gave them up after all these years. Then, besides, I couldn't put bells on an aeroplane, the motor would make so much noise you could not hear the bells jingle; and it's the jingling bells that make me feel merry, and that is the sound you listen for Christmas night when I crack my whip and dash over the housetops.

Why, I could not hitch my aeroplane to the chimney while I was filling your stockings. Besides, I would wake everybody up. With my reindeers I just say: "Whoa!" and they stop right beside the chimney and keep as still as mice while I hurry down the chimney and fill your stockings while you sleep. You see, I do not want to wake you up, for the best part of Christmas is the early-morning surprise.

But I must tell you about the big place on the Seventh Floor where I have assembled all my toys.

Just so you can go around and see them all I have made a little vil age. I call it "a little street in Brittany" because the roofs of the little shops are bright red and everything is so merry and full of life.

I am going to walk down my street in Brittany and tell you about it as I go along.

First, is the little shop called the Sign of the Silver Steed. Here you will see all sorts of wooden toys. Some are comical and I cannot look at them without smiling. I made them to make you smile. A smile makes a glad heart and I want all little boys and girls to have glad hearts.

Next, we come to the little Shop of Le Coq d'Or, as the little French children say in Brittany, when they mean the Golden Rooster. Here you will find little musical instruments and sets of toys, pianos, horns, drums and fiddles.

The next little shop is the Sign of the Jovial Jumping Jack. Here you will find lots of toys, from the Jumping Jack (just like the one I brought your father when he was a little boy) to many kinds o toy you will like. Right in front of this little shop stand two little Elephants that guard the entrance to Mother Goose Hall—but I'll tell you about them later.

Now we pass the old Dutch Mill, put there to make the street bright and pretty.

The next little shop is the Sign of the Little Boy in Khaki. Here you will find soldiers and sailors representing each branch of the Army and Navy, cannons and guns, etc.; but only boys will be interested in this shop.

The next little shop is at the Sign of the Jolly Musketeers. There are so many toys here that I cannot begin to tell you all about them.

The next is the Sign of the Light House, where you will find the ships, yachts, battleships, submarines, etc. When you come, look up and see the light flash that tells the sailors which way to steer the boat.

Now we come to the little Railway Station of Toiville, with railway tracks, signals, towers and electric trains of all kinds. The engines are busy all the time.

Next is the little shop, the Sign of the Pine Tree. I just had to have this because it reminds me of my home. And here you will find lots of toys. Some are new and some I have been making for years.

Right in front of this little shop is the model Nursery; then comes the Menagerie filled with animals that do not fight or bite—tigers, lions, elephants, dogs, monkeys, bears, etc. They are all in cages. Don't tease them. Don't feed them.

Then comes Peter Newell's Toy Shop, where you will see men making toys for me—funny toys that do all sorts of things, and Peter will be there, too.

Now we will go back to the entrance to Mother Goose Hall.

Mother Goose Hall is filled with dolls of every kind—little and big, dressed and undressed, comical and quaint. Oh, ever so many dolls! I could not count them. Each one has a wistful look. They want some little girl to take care of them. Then there are toys from France that walk and dance and also little Music Boxes that play while a Dolly rocks her baby to sleep.

In Mother Goose Hall you'll see a large painting of Mother Goose riding one of her large geese, also one of the Old Woman Who Lived in the Shoe, Jack the Giant-killer, the Cow That Jumped Over the Moon, Ride a Cockhorse to Banbury Cross and the Story of the Three Bears.

On the stage is the Good Ship St. Nicholas. I am going to make several trips each day to Happyland and I want you to come and go with me. We will have a jolly time as we sail along over the make-believe Blue Sea, and I will tell you stories about my reindeers and Toyland and the little gnomes that work for me.

Of course, your mother will bring you. Father takes you to the circus, so Mother will bring you to see me. Get Father to come, if you can. The sight of all these toys will make him a boy again, and if you watch him you will see him smile. You may then know he is thinking of the days gone by when he was a little boy and got up bright and early on Christmas morning and chased the sand-man away by rubbing his eyes with his little fists as he pecked into the room to see what was in his stocking; and I am sure that he was so happy that he began to dance with joy, especially if he got a pair of copper-toed boots, a jack-knife, a bag of gum drops and a few raisins.

SANTA CLAUS

HEALTHINSURANCE OFFERED FREE

The advocates of Compulsory Health Insurance have been raising a big dust about their pernicious scheme being a preventive measure against disease, which it plainly is not at all. To have grabbed out of ones wages a good big chunk monthly, and then if one owns a little home, another chunk in the way of taxes, so that if one is taken sick they may have the privilege of being attended by a cheap doctor, or their own, plus his fee also, can't possibly prevent anybody from getting sick, and it may make almost anybody sick who tries to figure out any such absurdity.

Now the American Red Cross is raising a big fund throughout this country to help finish its work on the other side with the boys of ours who are in the army of occupation, and in those sections of the devastated war country where the people must be helped back to normal living. Yes, but the by far larger share of the Red Cross funds will go for what? The kind of health preventitive work that the Compulsory Health Insurance people are talking about. All over this land, in the tiniest hamlet, under the aid of skilled nurses of the highest ranks; the aid of honest and generous physicians, and other Red Cross workers, there has already started this biggest Red Cross drive of all, against disease that may be a menace as well as against disease that already is a menace. The Red Cross will help and teach the people to keep well and then what use of health insurance of any sort? When you have taken out your membership in the Red Cross you have paid all you need to think about as your premium on any health insurance, for what the Red Cross insures, is sure, there is no going back of that.

In addition the national Tuberculosis Preventive Committee is about to put over a big tuberculosis drive in the effort to stop short the spread of the awful white plague and to cure such cases as are not beyond help.

If the health of this nation is not taken care of by these two organizations of mercy as it never has been and never can be in any other way, no kind of "Compulsory Insurance" scheme can save it.

As Dr. Richmond said at the High School on Wednesday evening, "Use your sense. Don't be stupid!"

OLIVEREA.

Oliverea, Nov. 13.—A. Krause and family have arrived from Cleveland, Ohio, and have taken possession of the property recently purchased of B. H. Satterlee.

Mrs. W. G. Rice of Jewett is visiting relatives here.

The deer hunters will soon be leaving this section as the season closes Saturday. While most of the hunters will be disappointed, quite a number of deer have been taken.

Platt Aley and son, Jacob H. Aley, of Kingston, formerly residents of this place, are in town on a hunting trip.

Mrs. B. H. Satterlee has gone to North Rose for several weeks' stay.

The Rev. H. M. Dumbell and family have gone to Florida for the winter.

North American Moose.

The best moose hunting in eastern North America is found in the Canadian province of New Brunswick. The best in the United States is in Maine. Moose are believed to be holding their own if not increasing. Ernest Thompson Seton, the naturalist, estimates that there are about a million moose in North America.

CENTRALIA BURIES I. W. W. VICTIMS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Centralia, Wash., Nov. 14.—All night long and today by trains and automobiles, members of the American Legion, friends of the four murdered ex-service men and loyal citizens generally, were arriving in Centralia to attend the memorial services which took place in the Auditorium at 3 o'clock today. Burial of the bodies of the victims of the I. W. W. murderers did not take place at one time, however. At the request of relatives this program was changed and at 10 o'clock today the body of Arthur R. MacElfesh was buried from the Christian Church.

At two o'clock this afternoon from the Presbyterian Church the funeral of Lieutenant W. O. Grimm took place.

At three o'clock the large auditorium was crowded with friends to pay last respects to the memory of Lieutenant W. O. Grimm, Arthur R. MacElfresh, Dave Hubbard and Ben Casagranda, whose lives were snuffed out by the bullets of the band of criminals who have infested this city, the mining region, logging camps and mills ever since the I. W. W. came into being. The services were conducted by the Rev. R. W. Thompson, retired Presbyterian minister and veteran of the civil war.

The funerals of Ben Casagranda and Dave Hubbard will take place Saturday at 2 p. m.

John Fiske, Linguist.

How many college undergraduates of today can rival the linguistic attainments of John Fiske when he was a student at Harvard? John Spencer Clark, in his life of Fiske, quotes the following passage from a letter that Fiske wrote to Miss Abbie Morgan Brooks, whom he afterwards married: "I can't talk in any language but my own, but I read in German, French, Spanish, Italian Portuguese, Latin, Greek and Anglo-Saxon. Then with hard study, I can decipher sentence by sentence Dutch, Danish, Swedish, Hebrew, Chaldee and Sanskrit; and there are some few I have dipped into without doing much, either because they have little literature or because I have no time for them—Zend Gothic, Wallachian and Provencal. Persian and Arabic I long to know, but I despair of ever having the time to learn them; there is so much to be done in other things. Before long anatomy, physiology and kindred sciences will engross me, and I am afraid I shall have to bid a last farewell to philology."—Youth's Companion.

Beating the Train.

"Now, Thomas," said the foreman of a construction gang to a green hand, "you just been put on the job to keep your eyes open. When you see a train coming throw down your tools and jump off the track. Run like blazes!" "Sure!" said Thomas and began to swing his pick. In a few minutes the Empire State Express came whirling along. Thomas threw down his pick and started up the track ahead of the train as fast as he could. The train overtook him and tossed him to a ditch. Badly shaken up he was taken to the hospital, where the foreman visited him. "You blithering idiot," said the foreman, "didn't I tell you to take care and get out of the way? Why didn't you run up the side of the hill?" "Up the soide of the hill is it, sor?" said Thomas through the bandages on his face. "Up the soide of the hill? By the powers, I can't hate it on the level, let alone run it up hill."

Real Crimes.

Man's virtues and vices are being subjected to a reclassification in the course of which they are expected to be seen in no few instances to be hanging places. The standard punishment applied by Dante to his circle of lost souls is being every day more closely approximated; sins of deliberate and impulse as having used the "relish of salvation" in them are being indulged lightly, when they are not indulged sins at all, and the cold-hearted sins of essential selfishness, the sins of cowardly and calculating and cowardice are being hailed up as the worst sins against God and man.—R. H. Gallienne.

Nest Society of Birds.

The wasp is one of the most remarkable builders of the animal world. Its little homes that are built of paper, no matter how close they are to human habitations, save America, are nearly perfect in construction. Washington has a bird house building contest that is creating widespread interest among school children throughout the nation. Bird life and preservation. Furthermore, the wasp is one of the most valuable of birds, for it feeds on worms and flies. It seems to be the opinion in the grounds the wasps which would eat the green fruit is the best of grass. Let us encourage the wasp.

Blunder Over Blunder.

It is dangerous thing when you let slip an unfortunate remark to try to cover up the blunder. Mrs. G. was talking with the wife of Judge H. about her son's choice of a profession. "I don't want him to be a lawyer," she said, "Why not?" asked the judge's wife. "I think there is nothing more than that the legal profession for a bright boy." "Well," said Mrs. H. bluntly, "a lawyer has to tell so many lies." Then it dawned on her that she was talking to the wife of a lawyer, so she hastily added: "But it—it—it—to be a good lawyer."—Seattle Competition.

HIGHLAND MAN HIT BY TROLLEY

Highland, Nov. 14.—George Chase, 60, is unconscious and in a serious condition as a result of being hit by a trolley car on his way to his home near Pratt's Mills. Mr. Chase sustained internal injuries, according to the report of the attending physician, Dr. A. V. Reed.

As Mr. Chase was walking on the trolley track on the left side of the road Wednesday night he saw the trolley coming at a rapid pace toward him and he stepped off the track to avoid being hit by the car and just as he did so a large automobile approached, so he stepped back to one side to avoid being struck by the automobile and the trolley hit him, knocking him down and he received two deep scalp wounds and was badly cut about the head and face. He was carried to the office of Dr. Reed, where an examination showed serious internal injuries. He was removed to his home.

Poughkeepsie Aroused, Too.

"Unjust, unreasonable and excessive" is the term applied to the new telephone rates in a copy of a complaint which George Worrall, corporation counsel, will ask the Poughkeepsie aldermen to authorize him to use in a state-wide legal contest. Mayor Butts is in full accord with the protest which is now being made, but neither he nor Mr. Worrall will go ahead without the consent of the common council.

MARLBORO WOMAN KILLED IN CRASH

Marlborough, Nov. 14.—Funeral services for Mrs. G. U. Kirkpatrick, 45, who died as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident near Suffern, were held in the chancel of St. Thomas's Church, New York, Thursday at 10 a. m. Interment was private.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick, whose summer home was in Marlborough and winter home in Park avenue, Manhattan, was fatally injured when her Cadillac car struck a Pierce Arrow car on the state road below Suffern.

The Cadillac was driven by William Lamb, chauffeur for Mrs. Kirkpatrick. They were on the way to New York at the time.

A terrific crash followed the meeting of the two big cars on a bend of the road. The Cadillac was turned completely over, while the other car managed to keep the road. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was rendered unconscious, a condition from which she never recovered, although medical aid was summoned promptly. The chauffeur was severely injured.

Inspect Terminal Site.

The first tangible steps toward the establishment of a barge canal terminal at Poughkeepsie since the acquisition of the land for the site were taken Thursday when a party of experts on terminal construction working under the state canal board visited the city and went over the old Vassar brewery property. A thorough inspection was made with a view to the securing of information which would enable the experts to pass upon the construction plans of the state board when submitted to them for final approval.

Fertilizers in the Netherlands.

One source of the demand for fertilizers in the Netherlands that one is apt to overlook is the fairly extensive reclamation of waste land. The process of dyking and draining that has made large sections of the country from the sea and its culmination in the project to drain the greater part of the Zuyder Zee well known.

Famous English Lotteries.

It brought a shock to many Londoners when somebody informed them that Westminster bridge was built from the proceeds of a lottery. Then somebody dug up the fact that away back in 1736, parliament incorporated a lottery through which the beginnings were made toward establishing the British museum.

FOREIGN PRINT PAPER FOR U. S.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Co-operation of the department of commerce, the department of state and the shipping board will be asked in an effort to have surplus printpaper of foreign nations brought to the United States to relieve the shortage in this country, Senator Watson of Indiana announced today.

"I have endeavored to obtain the amount of this surplus without success. When the amount has been fixed, I will ask the shipping board to assign bottoms to carry it to the United States," Senator Watson said.

"This will relieve the situation to some extent. I have been unable to ascertain the amount available, however. The small papers throughout the country are in a condition which is alarming, according to reports received by me from their publishers. There must be relief.

"I have a resolution in congress asking for an immediate survey of the paper pulp supply for the northeast and a review of the available supply in the west and northwest. I will endeavor to get action on this at the opening of the next session. We must build up the print paper industry in the United States to hold down the prices or the press of America will be forced to exclude educational news to make way for advertising that they might not return with a loss at the end of the year," he said.

Senator Gronna, of North Carolina, who has charge of the Watson resolution, said "nothing can be done on it until the beginning of the next session, due to the early sessions of the senate each day and the necessity of members being on the floor during the consideration of the peace treaty."

The Call of the Bells.

(By J. L. Leeper, D. D.)

These verses ascribed to the First Dutch Church bell are intended as a call to the Community service, 4:30 o'clock each Sunday afternoon. This bell was installed in 1794, so that if rung on an average of six times a week it has sounded out its call thirty-nine thousand times in one hundred and twenty-five years:

Clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!
In the golden hours of morn
"Come to church!" it seems to call
A hundred years and more in all.
Has called our fathers, calls us, too,
To what we ought, not to what we like to do.

Clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!
In the evening twilight hours.
"Come to prayer!" it calls again
To stay-at-homes, "Come through the rain!"
Six days enough to do thy work.
The Holy Day thou shouldst not shirk.

Clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!
In the icy air of night.
Attend you will when all is well?
When so disposed or in the spell?
Wouldst thou a churchless town approve?
All homes of charity remove?
And all convene at Woden's fane?
And none at all in His blest name?

Clang! Clang! Clang! Clang!
Clang! Clang! Clang!
When men into the desert go
And thirst, and thirst, endure their woe.
They throw a line in desert style
As men on camel back defile
As fan expands yet see each other
And forward go, advance together.
And when the water they have found
"Come on! Come on!" goes up the shout.
So in this desert land of ours
Where men athirst see not the showers.
The herald bell up in the tower
Shouts too, "Come on!" with all its power.

Ring on, thou messenger of peace.
Till all men find in Christ release
From hate, from envy and from strife.
Till everyy man in all the city
Obeys thy call. It's such pity.

Thieves Had Auto Truck.

Raw silk to the value of $10,500 and unfinished silk approximating $3,500 in value were stolen from the factory of the Newburgh Silk Company on Prospect street during Wednesday night. The thieves backed an auto truck to the rear of the plant, "jimmied" open a window, unbolted a door, loaded on the valuable cargo, and made off without leaving a clue as to their identity. Fingerprints on the window proved of no value to the police.

NEW THREAT HELD TROOPS AT MINES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 14.—While the federal troops that have been stationed in this state during the coal strike were preparing today to entrain for their home stations, word was recieved here that the miners in three districts of the Kanawha coal districts were in open opposition to the strike recall order and were threatening trouble.

Major General Wood, who had been here arranging for the return of the soldiers, was aboard a train in Kentucky enroute for his headquarters when he was informed of the situation.

Military headquarters here would not comment upon the threatened trouble. It was announced, however, that the troop recall order had not been cancelled and that the troops will probably start moving away this afternoon.

It was said that radicals have been spreading propaganda in the three districts. Early this week government agents confiscated a quantity of rifles and ammunition that was consigned to miners in the district.

All gave three cheers for Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy and wished a long and prosperous life. Tessie Feldman, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas, Marguerite, Katherine and John Bode, Mrs. R. DOCTOR TELLS HOW TO DETECT BAD EFFECTS OF TOO MUCH TOBACCO

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York: Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital, says: Many men who smoke, chew or snuff incessantly and who are seemingly healthy are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been afflicted and it not been for the excessive use of tobacco, and thousands would soon get well if they would only stop the incongruous use of tobacco. The chief baleful harming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison which, when absorbed by the system slowly affects the nerves, circulation, viscera and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleepiness, loss of memory, lack of will power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even cancer or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you are inclined to use form you can easily detect the harmful effects by making the following simple tests. Read slowly one full page from a book. If, in the course of reading your color becomes muffled, tongue and lips pale, and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh that it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before taking your usual smoke, walk up three flights of stair at a regular pace, then rest. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke, chew or snuff to quiet your nerves, you are a slave to the tobacco habit, and are positively poisoning yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have just two alternatives—keep on with the well-poisoning process irrespective of the disorders and suffer the consequences, or give up the habit and escape the dangers. You can overcome the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula. Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets, take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco, the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note—When asked about Nicotol tablets, one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit; away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money of every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of any nicotine unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists, including Connelly Drug Company and Ten Broeck Pharmacy.

MABEL NORMAND in "UP STAIRS"

MINERS TO REMAIN OUT

Coal producers from the bituminous fields arriving in Washington today presented an attitude of determination as they prepared to go into conference with the representatives of the United Mine Workers not to yield at any point to the demands concerning wages and hours that are being urged upon them.

Thomas Brewster, leader of the operators in the conference, said the position of the operators in the matter is already before the public. He indicated that he believes that the negotiations in the conference today should be resumed at the point where they were broken off by the miners before the strike order was put into effect.

Alfred M. Ogle, producer in the Indiana fields, and a former member of the United States fuel administration, reached the city on an early train and went into conference with a group of producers of his district at the offices of the cetral competitive field operators.

Statistics and figures concerning the operating time of the mines in all of the producing fields and the average working time of different men employed in them which are gathered annually by the department of labor and other divisions of the federal government, are being collected by a group of statisticians for presentation to the conference by the operators as a basis for resisting the demands for greater wages and shorter hours.

The claim is made by the producers that the miners have not taken advantage of the opportunities that were offered them to increase their wages through more work.

The bitterness of the situation is reflected in the statements of many of the operators who are reaching the city to the effect that the miners on their payrolls have refused to return to work notwithstanding the strike recall order of Acting President Lewis. Some of these operators frankly asserted that the strike recall order has not been taken seriously by the mine workers or the officials of local unions.

"The miners are not going back in any great numbers, said Frank Farrington, of Springfield, Ill., chairman of the miners' wage scale committee in the central competitive field. "In my opinion the majority will not resume work until they are assured of an equitable new agreement.

"We've done our share and the settlement of the strike is now up to the government. Even if an agreement is reached in the conference, it will not mean a final settlement. Whatever we do in the conference must be ratified by the miners at a special convention called for the purpose."

Stand by Him.

She was a sweet, young bride, who had already found that what looks like a nice piece of meat in the shop often seems to have gone through a private transformation when it arrives home. "How is it?" she inquired eagerly, when an old married friend called upon her, "that you always manage to have such delicious beef?" "It's very simple," replied the elder woman. "I first select a good honest butcher, and then I stand by him." "Oh, I see, you give him all your trade, you mean?" said the innocent young bride. "No!" answered her companion, grimly, "I stand by him while he is cutting the meat!"

Open Hearts Keep Young.

The mind acts upon the body, and keeps it young. Those who grumble at everything, who nurse resentments, and who let their troubles sour them look, and actually grow, old, sooner than the contented and kindly. It is a very beautiful thing to see those who have met many storms in life, but who have turned their troubles into sympathy, and kept an open heart for all about them. And even when the hair turns grey, and the first youth passes, they possess that boon to themselves and those whose life touches theirs—a young mind.

Mrs. John H Curran. INTERNATIONAL

Mrs. John H. Curran of St. Louis recently came to New York with the announcement that she has established telephatic communication with Patience Worth, a New England girl, who died about 1675, and that she is prepared to offer some of the latest poems of the dead authoress in support of her contention. Mrs. Curran disclaims "mediumship," but admits that she uses a ouija board in her communications with the "spirit of Miss Worth." She says she does so only to concentrate her thoughts. Mrs. Curran's husband, who accompanied her to New York, aids in transmitting the "messages" in long hand. Many scientific men and students of spiritualism are deeply interested in Mrs. Curran's claims.

MAY ENJOIN "MOTHER" JONES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The government will seek injunctions against agitators who attempt to prevent coal miners from returning to their work in accordance with the order issued by Judge Anderson in Indianapolis, the department of justice announced this afternoon.

Attorney General Palmer this afternoon instructed all district attorneys to use every effort to secure injunctions against any who preach defiance of the court order.

Reports to the department of justice stated that there has been considerable trouble in Alabama where union miners have returned to their work only to urge non-union miners to leave the mines.

The department of justice was informed that "Mother" Jones has announced her intention of going into the Ohio fields and it is probable that an effort will be made to enjoin her.

Agents in the field have been instructed to report immediately any action in defiance of the court order, it was stated.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The many members of the Loyal Friends' Aid Society were most delightfully entertained at a masquerade social at the home of Mrs. Sam Bernstein, Sr., president of the society. Dancing and games were very pleasantly indulged in and afterwards refreshments were served. The evening will long be remembered as a good time was had by all.

Mrs. Jane Roper Harris, wife of Ambroze Harris, well known citizen of the town, died at her home at Briggs Street, Ellenville, on Tuesday, November 11 after a long illness following a fall from the porch. She had been unable to walk since that time. Mrs. Harris was born in Queens county, Ireland, April 11, 1842, the daughter of Joseph Roper and Jane Parker, his wife. She came to this country fifty-three years ago and for nearly fifty years has been a resident of this town. Surviving are the husband and a step-daughter, Miss Eliza Harris, who have been devoted in the care of Mrs. Harris. The funeral was held at St. John's Episcopal Church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The service conducted by Dr. Hobson, rector of the church. Interment in the family plot in the Fantinekill cemetery.

A most enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Oakley at Lyonsville, N. Y., on Monday evening, November 10, it being the twentieth anniversary of the birthday of their daughter, Maud. Over seventy of her young friends gathered in honor of the event. The evening was spent in playing games, and many selections were rendered on the piano. Miss Oakley was the recipient of a number of beautiful and costly presents, including jewelry, linen, cut glass, silver, money, stationery, candy, etc. At midnight refreshments, including assorted sandwiches, pickles, cake, candy, ice cream and coffee, were served. After all were served, the large birthday cake, decorated with green vines, and containing the candles arranged in a figure 20, was placed on the dining room table. Later the birthday cake was cut by Miss Oakley and served to the guests. In the wee small hours of the morning the guests departed wishing Maud many more happy birthdays.

All the rails were in good demand, Southern Pacific rose nearly 5 points to 110½; Union Pacific 5 points to 127½ and Reading over 3 points to 82¾. COAL CONFERENCE CALLED TO ORDER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The coal "peace conference" is on.

Coal miners and operators meeting at the behest of Secretary of Labor Wilson, in an endeavor to reach a new wage agreement and wipe out the differences which caused the nation-wide strike, was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by Secretary Wilson.

John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, entered the hall at 2:40 and Secretary of Labor Wilson immediately called the conference to order.

Lewis walked into the room smoking a huge cigar and was greeted with prolonged applause from the miners and he replied with a wave of the hand.

The miners were seated in the middle of the hall about 100 strong, with representatives of the operators flanking them on each side.

CENTRALIA JAIL GUARDS WOUND 1

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Guards say they commanded him to halt and that when he ignored their challenge fired a shot into the air before shooting at him.

Godfrey refuses to tell why he was in the vicinity of the jail.

A detail of heavily armed guards surrounded the jail building to prevent the carrying out of threats to lynch alleged I. W. W. prisoners.

Theory and Practice.

If folks were paid according to their executive ability, a good cook would draw more salary than a college professor.—Galveston News.

Germany demolishes famous fort of Spandau.

In accordance with the terms of the armistice the famous Fort of Spandau, long known as the treasure house of Germany, is being demolished. In this famous fort, more than forty-four years ago, Germany piled up millions of indemnity she wrung from France through just such a war of aggression as has just ended in Germany's defeat. German women are doing most of the work in dismantling the famous fort. Each brick, taken from the building, is carefully laid aside for the future construction of homes. The town of Spandau is situated in Brandenburg, about nine miles distant from Berlin.

FARMERS "UNION" BARS RADICALS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The constitution of the National Federation of Farm Bureaus—the "farmers union"—the strongest organization on earth, the members say, was adopted with amendments at today's session of the Federation and, according to the members, "the constitution leaves no room for radicals such as are found in some of the labor unions."

Paul Stevens, editor of American Farming, and an active worker in the Federation, declared the organization is the largest organization of people engaged in a single vocation" and predicted that it "should surpass in numbers the American Federation of Labor."

"Statesmen and captains of industry will do well to hold councils with the farmers, particularly in times of grave perplexity," said Stevens.

"This organization will facilitate such consultations. The farmers' great influence will ever be found on the side of right and justice."

Explanation of Humidity.

Humidity, technically speaking, says the Philadelphia Press, is the amount of water or vapor moisture in the air. A given space at a given temperature can contain only a definite amount of water. If it contains less it will endeavor to fill up by evaporation. If it contains more the surplus water will condense. When a mass of air contains all the moisture it is capable of holding it is said to be saturated. The higher the temperature the more moisture it takes to saturate the air. If it contains less moisture than would saturate it at a given temperature, then the lower temperature at which this would sufficient for saturation is called the dew point. The percentage of moisture in the air to what it would hold if saturated is called the relative humidity. Thus, if the air contains one-half the moisture necessary to saturate it, the relative humidity is 50; if only a third, it is 33. It is of course, at its maximum when at 100 and fog forms and mist falls.

The Most Ancient Egg.

Just before the war began, during excavations in the ancient Moguntinum, under the auspices of the Archaeological society of Mayence, there was found a hen's egg which was estimated to have been buried in the earth for something like 19 centuries.

Moguntinum was built by Drusus, the son of the Roman emperor Augustus, in the year 14 B. C. Upon the site of the ancient Roman castrum or encampment near the city the excavations in question brought to light many interesting relics, including some water cisterns of Roman make. It was in one of these, which was located some 20 feet below the surface, that a damaged Roman chaplet was discovered containing the shell of a broken egg and also a whole egg that had been kept from being smashed by a shred of the damaged pot, which covered it. The egg was deposited in the provincial museum.

Father's Fee.

"Is it absolutely necessary that I speak to your father?" asked the lover after the girl of his heart had promised to be his.

"Why, of course. He is the head of the family, you know."

"It isn't the head of the family I'm afraid of. It's the feet," replied Reggy Knox.

Skilled in Confectionery.

The Chinese are very skilful in making confectionery. They pare white turnips and scrape out the pulp entirely and then fill it up with fruit jelly without one being able to find the smallest crack in the rind or even a tiny hole. Indeed, they even empty an egg in this manner and fill it with a sort of almond nougat without one being able to find the slightest break or incision in the shell.

Strangers Prepared For.

"Does this dog growl?" asked the lady at the dog dealers. "Noh, yes, madam," was the answer. "Well, I want a dog that doesn't growl." "Don't you want something that will growl when strangers come around?" "Yes. My husband will attend to that."

Place for Small Fruit.

In gardens where the available land is limited in extent, currants and gooseberries may well be planted among the tree fruits and left there permanently. The shade of the trees protect the fruits from sun scald, and the foliage is usually healthier in such locations than when grown where it is freely exposed to the sun.—Agricultural Department.

ADMINISTRATION STILL FIGHTING RESERVATIONS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The administration forces not only disclosed today that they intended to continue their fight against the reservations to the German peace treaty proposed by the Republican majority, but they would attempt to fall back on five reservations of their own before the end of the battle.

Their leaders in making public these five minority reservations, expressed the belief that enough of the senators who because of their desire to "save the treaty from defeat," are known as "mild reservationists," would support a "compromise" to provide eventually a satisfactory solution of the existing situation

The peace treaty fight was laid aside in the senate today while those who have been engaged in the bitter struggle paid their respects to the memory of the late Senator Thomas Staples Martin of Virginia.

Forty members of the senate, Vice-President Thomas B. Marshall, Secretary of the Treasury Glass, Former Ambassador to Italy Page, and a large number of house members left here on a special train to attend the funeral of Senator Martin to be held at Charlottesville this afternoon

Senators Lodge and Hitchcock were in the party

Both sides were preparing today for the fight over the attempt to invoke the cloture rule to limit further debate on the treaty. A vote on the rule is expected tomorrow, although some Democratic leaders expressed the belief that it might go out until Monday

The reservations proposed by Senator Hitchcock and his associates as substitutes for the minority reservations, were regarded as indicating that they still intend to carry out their previously announced intention of voting against the majority resolution of ratification if the reservations they object to are attached to it

To drive out of the system impurities that keep you feeling miserable is good advice, and people who want better blood and keener enjoyment of life should not neglect taking at least a two weeks' treatment of gentle health-building K. & B. Tea.

Druggists will tell you that scores of people enjoy a cup at bedtime because it keeps liver and bowels in proper condition and ends billous attacks and six headache.

Give it to the children when peevish. They like it, and it acts very gently on their little bowels. Be sure you get Dr. Carter's K. & B. Tea.

The "Autometric" Carburetor

YALE

Made by The Yale & Towne Mfg. Co.
STAMFORD CONNECTICUT

A Carburetor that makes good its promise of economy

AIR is cheap. The more of it you use in operating your automobile, the greater will be your economy in running expense.

The Autometric Carburetor will give you:
4 to 20% more mileage from your gasoline at low speed.
10 to 30% more mileage from your gasoline at low intermediate speed. (The speed you drive 95% of the time.)
10 to 20% more mileage from your gasoline at high.
10 to 25% more mileage from your gasoline at maximum.

Because it automatically feeds the correct mixture of gasoline and air for all speeds for any car.

The usual carburetor is subject to correct adjustment at but one speed. This is set for best results at intermediate or touring speeds. The result is either too lean or too rich a mixture at low and high speeds.

As the Autometric Carburetor provides the correct mixture for all speeds, no more fuel is burned than is actually necessary at whatever speed you are traveling.

Step in and we'll arrange to have your own garage man put an Autometric on your car on approval. Then you can prove its economies over any other carburetor.

Gowns In An Emergency.

A party from up the U. & D. Railroad telephoned in to the Van Wagenen Company very late in the afternoon of the day before the Armistice Ball for evening gowns to be sent on approval to the addressee in time for appearance in Kingston the next evening. Because of the heavy sale of their party frocks the company was able to send but one, but that left town by special delivery that evening. Whether the lady got to the ball in all the rain was not learned. But it was learned that on the afternoon of Tuesday another gown was sent on approval to a lady in one of our suburban villages, and the lady appeared most becomingly dressed in the same, at the ball. Similar service in the metropolis could hardly be better.

Home Children Taken To Movies.

On Thursday afternoon the children of the Industrial Home were the guests of Mrs. A. Kaunitz of 322 Albany avenue, at the children's matinee of Wombey and Son given at the Opera House for the benefit of the Parent Teacher Associations of the city. The boys and girls were accompanied by the matrons and all greatly enjoyed the treat. Through the kindness of Mrs. Philip Elting, Mrs. John Forsyth, Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck and Mrs. John Van Etten, the little folks and the matrons were taken up to the Opera House by auto, which greatly added to the pleasure of the outing.

Miss Johnson Recovering.

The many friends of Miss Sara A.
